Greetings For 1961

Hello again:

The 1961 edition of our catalog brings you the finest and most recent listing of Iris and Hemerocallis in America. Our new location is proving to be ideal for growing iris and daylilies; therefore making our plants bigger than ever. You can feel confident of quality when you order our plants.

Although we are introducing no Iris this year we have several very promising seedlings in entirely new color combinations that will make their debut soon. Watch for them.

Last summer we purchased the entire stocks of Orville Fay's magnificent First Formal and Lavender Parade, which we proudly introduce this season. We predict that both First Formal and Lavender Parade will become all time hemerocallis gréats.

For those attending the 1961 Hemerocallis Convention in the Chicago area this summer you can see both First Formal and Lavender Parade in the Orville Fay garden in Northbrook, Illinois.

We hope everyone has a good season this year and that you breeders find in your seedling patch "that one."

Peak bloom here for Iris is late May. The Daylily peak is mid to late July, but we have good bloom throughout the summer and fall months. You are all welcome to visit with us anytime.

Introductions for 1961

LAVENDER PARADE (Fay 1961) M. 30 in. D. Re. Sdlg. 59-78. Parentage. Fay 55-15: (Evelyn Claar x Hall 47-11) x Fay 51-51: (Evelyn Claar x Bach sdlg.) x White Jade: (Fay 52-39, Evelyn Claar sdlg. x Fay 51-51).

From the hand of the famous plant breeder, Orville W. Fay, we now introduce an entirely new color to the daylily world, Lavender.

The beautiful large 5 to 6 inch medium wide petaled flowers are a true clear lavender self with small greenish-yellow throats. The porcelain textured flowers are very smooth and clear in color without texture veining or other markings to mar its clear coloring. Many flowers are produced on well branched 30 inch scapes carrying 40 to 50 buds giving a long season of bloom. The rebloom scapes are as good as the first. Lavender Parade remains crisp and fresh in 90 degree plus temperatures varying only slightly in color. Flowers stay out till after dark. Other distinctive features of this grand daylily are its beautiful low growing, compact plant with blue green foliage, its vigor and its ability to proliferate. Lavender Parade will be a superb parent opening a new era in daylily breeding. Its originator says that Lavender Parade can produce the blue daylily. Its pollen is fertile and it is an excellent seed parent. Stock limited. Fall delivery$50.00

FIRST FORMAL (Fay 1961) M. 32 in. D. Sdlg. 59-16. Parentage. Fay 56-2: (Fay 51-52 x Evelyn Claar) x Fay 55-15: (Evelyn Claar x Hall 47-11) x Fay 51-51).

At last a true pink daylily makes its debut into the hemerocallis world. First Formal introduces a new concept of pink color, a true baby ribbon pink self, including stamens and pistal, with a very small inconspicuous green gold throat. The effect from a short distance is all pink. Porcelain textured flowers are perfectly smooth, free from texture veining or other markings. The large 5 to 6 inch diamond dusted flowers remain fresh in the hottest summer temperatures and are produced on well branched 32 inch scapes carrying 35 buds or more. Individual flowers are of beautiful form with the medium wide sepals and petals lightly recurved at the tips and remain open until after dark. Vigorous growth coupled with beautiful blue-green foliage combine with the other outstanding qualities of First Formal to make it very distinctive. Proving a fine parent. Pollen fertile and sets seed.

Fragrant. $25.00

★ What's New ★

It is our aim in this section of the catalog to present to you the very latest and best developments in both the Iris and the Daylily. We hope you all enjoy it and benefit from it.

This year we see three major developments in the Iris world. ORANGE PARADE from Melba Hamblen introduces to us a true orange colored iris with beautiful flowers on nicely branched stems. We think it one of the most important introductions of the past few years. BLUE BARON from the Schreiners brings Aphylla blood and its stem characteristics into the tall bearded class. The large ruffled blue-violet flowers are produced on stems with branching to the ground. Orville W. Fay introduces RIPPLING WATERS, a by-product of red bearded white breeding. This one is an exquisite blend of blue-orchid, cream and pink with a red beard. The flowers are produced from a plant abounding with vigor and disease resistance.

The finest pale blue-white we have seen is making its debut this year from the DeForest garden. HIGH ABOVE is a magnificent clear and clean, ruffled light blue-white self with a self colored beard.

Three other Fay introductions which we recommend are the following. ESTER FAY is a fine red bearded pink self with the finest branching of any pink I know. When ESTER FAY was exhibited in England last season it was acclaimed as the finest pink seen. RED LANCE is a pure white self with a wide intense red beard that glows in the sun. This one has more contrast between beard and petal color than any iris around. Fay's DARK SPLENDOR a half sister to BLACK SWAN is a very smooth deep deep royal purple that stands out like a beacon in the garden.

Paul Cook is offering two more of his distinctive white-blue amoena's this season. Both are WHOLE CLOTH seedlings. MISS INDIANA has white standards and deep blue falls that have a horizontal flare. CONGENIALITY is a lovely amoena with pure white standards and light blue falls that are horizontal. Both are very good and different.

Dave Hall's GOLDEN YEARS is the ultimate in the Truly Yours, Golden Garland class but this one is white with the most intense gold coloring I've seen in an iris.

Two very fine and distinctive MELODRAMA seedlings will be introduced from Opal Brown this season. BRIGHT CLOUD is a beautifully ruffled blue-white amoena with very blue falls and GYPSY LULLABY is a very unique iris with creamy buff standards and rosy orchid falls of extreme width.

The name Mosaic is popping up more in iris conversations recently. It is becoming a big problem in iris culture. Unfortunately not too much is known about this disease of the iris except that it is a type of virus that enters the iris plant through bruises or is carried by insects, presumably aphids. Once in the plant Mosaic never leaves, but persists gradually stunting and finally killing the plant over a period of years.

External indications of the presence of Mosaic are 1. Mottling of the iris foliage. 2. Flecking or water spotting of the flowers especially in cool rainy weather. 3. Gradual plant and flower size reduction and vigor reduction.

To date the only cure found for Mosaic in Iris are plants resistant to the virus.

Glad breeders have overlooked the fact that Mosaic was plaguing their plants for years until one day they realized that it was Mosaic. Their problem is not solved yet for they have been unable to find resistant plants. Let's not let this happen to the irises.

The daylily is making great strides these days with new colors and new types, namely tetraploids, which in a few years will change our concept of the daylily. The daylily is becoming a very refined and beautiful flower rivaling the beauty of any flower. It is hard to believe that only a short time ago we knew the daylily as the roadside lily and can you imagine what developments the next few years will bring.

The Fay-Griesbach tetraploid daylilies are big news again this season. Some of the colors in these amazing new daylilies are brilliant rose, white tinted pink, intense lemon yellows, intense pink, and rose, and melon shades.

Two of the teraploids will be available this season T 59-24, CRESTWOOD ANN, is a very beautiful broad petaled fleshy melon pink blend with a waffle iron finish and T-30, CRESTWOOD THELMA is a wide petaled night blooming clear yellow of beautiful ruffled form. Another tet worthy of mention at this time is T 59-30 a superb, large ruffled, intense golden yellow that stays the same in all types of weather.

The 1961 seedling beds of Dave Hall were full of wonderful daylilies this year. It contained many beautiful melon pink shades not seen before. One that I thought extra fine was seedling 60-41, a very ruffled and creped cream with lavender-orchid mid-ribs. This one will be worth watching. It was clearly evident that FRANCES FAY and SUPERFINE mixed with the fine Hall lilies make a good combination for the breeder. Here is another sample of what a program of outcrossing can do for the breeder. Dave can certainly be proud of his last seedling patch.

Two 1961 introductions from Dave that we like are PARADISE PINK, a delicate light pink that fades to pinkish white by evening and HONOR GUEST, a very frilled salmon pink blend.

Elmer Claar's very popular LEXINGTON is being introduced this season. This light yellow is the most ruffled daylily we know. Elmer's FINEST HOUR is a fine new red we think superior to ALAN.

Two seedlings in Hubert Fischer's garden were exceptionally fine this season. 59-139, a pale yellow with slight rose pink shadings has a waffle iron finish and 59-231 was a huge medium yellow whose size is staggering.

Four new introductions from Frank Childs deserve close watching for they indicate real promise. ANTHEM is a distinctive peach-amber and pink blend that repeats. A very wide petaled and nicely ruffled pink is CHILDSPLAY. CUPID BOW, a dainty shell pink on low scapes and GEORGIA PEACH, a very ruffled peach blend complete the list.

If you enjoy this feature of our catalog do let us know. If you have any questions concerning any of the newer varieties we'll be glad to pass on any information we have on them.
